

Wine: TastingRoom fills startup tiny-bottle portfolio with 50-plus wineries

Sonoma County moving toward labeling decision

Twenty years after buying 4,000 acres of land on Mt. George in Napa Valley and planting 75 acres of it, Kenzo Tsujimoto, chairman of the Japanese gaming giant Capcom Group, plans to open his Kenzo Estate winery on Monticello Road on May 1.

He has brought in noted "cult" winemaker Heidi Barrett, A-list vineyard manager David Abreau and chef Thomas Keller.

The project, designed by Backen Gillam & Kroeger Architects of St. Helena and Sausalito, includes 20,000 square feet of caves.