

DINING //

Foodometer // The dish on the dish. By Melissa Clark

Summer Pleasures

Sometimes you want to just sit back and take in the scenery. This summer the Kenzo Estate winery in Napa Valley promises to serve up the ooohs and ahhs of natural splendor, even before you get your wine geek on. Its recently opened, by-appointment-only tasting room—set within 4,000 acres of pristine Napa countryside—will present wine made by acclaimed “first lady of wine” Heidi Barrett and cuisine by The French Laundry’s Thomas Keller. Guests are greeted with a traditional Japanese welcoming ceremony before settling in to communal tables, where they can choose between a tasting of four Kenzo wines with charcuterie for $50 per person or a wine-paired lunch by Chef Keller for only $10 more.

kenzoestate.com

